

RICO WIGET

Rico was the youngest among the former Dinosaurs and therefore stands a good chance of surviving in the Stone Age. He says he loves creating a racket with extreme joy. True to Stone Age customs, he graces the drums with bones as mallets – but that may be pure hearsay (well-conceived, though, at that). Rico has played in so many bands that his fame has even spread to the Neanderthal. His great role model is Ian Paice, Deep Purple's drummer, who is also the person ... you know, in the lift.
